Black Nationalism is the only practical answer for Black People in the United States of America.

A WORD OR TWO

The Stupidest Leaders In The World

A review of the history of the United States of America will reveal that this country has elected some of the stupidest men in the world as its presidents and leaders. I will name a few of them, but it is more important to realize that, if stupid men have been leading the United States for nearly 250 years, it is because this country has been steadily producing people who are stupid enough to vote for them and allow them to assume leadership roles.

Now that I think about it, that's not much of a revelation. People from other countries who dare to be honest will tell you that Americans tend to be some of the least developed people they have ever run into. But enough about the stupid people; it's the leaders this article is dedicated to.

To enable more people to relate to what is being said, let's concentrate on national leaders during the last 50 years. From the African continent we find leaders of vision and courage like Patrice Lumumba, Kwame Nkrumah, Sekou Toure and Julius Nyerere. From Asia you have giants like Mao and Ho, and from the Caribbean and Latin America we find exceptional figures like Maurice Bishop and the legendary Fidel Castro. But if you look at the United States for the last 50 or so years, the only president who even faked a modicum of vision (the Camelot spin) was John Kennedy, who is mostly remembered because he was assassinated.

Lyndon Johnson's grasp of the world he lived in would be the subject of ridicule if he had not been followed by such ignoramuses as Richard Nixon, Gerald Ford, Ronald Reagan (quite possibly the dumbest president of all time) and the Bushes. The Democrats who have held office aren't any better off. Jimmy Carter's forward leaning yearnings went up in thin air because he wasn't strong or committed enough to withstand the pressure of forging meaningful changes, and Bill Clinton simply wasn't committed to anything that wasn't self-propelling. Clinton was arguably the most knowledgeable of the lot, so what he did was prove that knowledge without commitment is one of the things that keeps trash can makers in business.

White power dominates the world not because of its good qualities, but because white people get low down more frequently and more enthusiastically than non-white people. That helps explain why stupid individuals are better qualified to lead the United States than intelligent, well developed individuals. The United States is the national incarnation of what is worst about human political organization, and its people the incarnation of what is worst about human beings.
